

Who We Are

We are The Giving Child! We are a nonprofit that builds Android games for children. Our goal is to empower children to help change the world. Our theme is “Every child can be a superhero!” and this year we are partnering with Heart and Hand, a local non-profit that supports and feeds at risk kids in the Denver area.

The Game

We are building a maze/memory game. Our superhero child will start from their home-base (The Heart and Hand Center) and fly out through a maze to find hungry children. Scooping them up, our mild mannered protagonist will fly them back to the center to feed them a delicious meal! Each level will feature a different, more complex maze and increasingly awesome boosts.

Who We Need

Gamers, game builders, coders, animators, 2D artists and anyone else who thinks this project sounds fantastic!

Why You Would Choose Us

We will value you, your opinions and your suggestions.

We are building a game... Who wouldn't want to be part of that?!

We will feed you yummy food at our weekly meetings.

We will give you freedom in this project, to make it yours and to make it better than what we envision!

Two former field session students who have been on our previous teams will be leading this project, they will know what you are going through. what you have to work with, and how best to help.

We are trying to make a difference... You could join us!

For more info on us you can check out our website www.thegivingchild.org

www.heartandhandcenter.org